The concert will be held at the Salvation Army Hall in Grass Valley. Program starts at 7:45 P.M. ,and includes talent from Reno, Sacramento and Oakland.

FORESTERS HONOR OLD TIMERS

GRASS VALLEY: Fifty year members of Court Pride of the Grass Valley Foresters were honored last Wednesday evening at a special dinner meeting in Bret Harte Inn.

The lodge is one of the oldest in Grass Valley with a growing list of fifty-year members whose loyalty to the order was recognized.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

CHAPTER FIVE

JANUARY 19, 1851—Have not written much about Pard lately, but he is a great comfort. He is a different man than when we joined fortunes, doesn't sulk and get moods as he did at first, and I notice he doesn't tear up his letters any more. He says it is all on account of our dog Jack who came along just at the right time, but that is all nonsense, although it is wonderful how much they think of each other. The rain is over, the nights are cold and frosty, but the grass is growing and wild flowers are blooming. When I think of the old Norfolk place, which at this time of the year is buried under big snowdrifts, I don't feel as if I cared to leave this country. It seems a pity that when it is all worked out there will be nothing to stay for. Pard has a different opinion. He predicts that they will grow wheat and fruit in the valleys and California will be a rich and big state, and he tells me that he is thinking of investing five thousand dollars in real estate at the Bay. The claim paid eighteen ounces this last week.

JANUARY 26, 1851—There was a lively time over at Selby Flat Wednesday night. The landlord gave a ball at the hotel. All the women were there—seven of them—and about two hundred men. They had a fiddler—Mart Simonson; one of the best I ever heard.

SHOPPER RECIPES

BACON, BANANA AND ORANGE GRILL

½ Cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ Tsp. cinnamon
4 Bananas
Lemon juice
4 Bacon strips
3 Oranges

Mix sugar and cinnamon. Peel bananas; roll in juice, then in sugar. Wrap bacon strip around each banana; fasten with picks. Peel oranges; slice, sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture. Place fruit on broiler rack with top of food 3 inches below unit or tip of flame. Broil 8 minutes, turning bananas once. Serves 4.

SAUSAGE LINKS

Place sausage links in skillet; add small amount water. Cover; cook slowly 5 min. Drain; cook slowly, turning to cook evenly, until center has lost pink color.

SAUSAGE PATTIES

Shape bulk sausage into thin patties; place in cold skillet. Cook slowly, turning to cook evenly, until center has lost pink color, draining off fat as it accumulates.

CURRIED PINEAPPLE AND SAUSAGE

1 Lb. tiny pork sausages
8 Canned pineapple slices
½ Tsp. curry powder
1 Cup pineapple sirup
Hot cooked rice
1 Tsp. cornstarch

Fry sausages according to directions (above). Brown pineapple slices in ¼ cup sausage fat; drain on absorbent paper. Halve pineapple. Mix cornstarch and curry powder; add pineapple sirup. Add to fat in pan; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Place rice in center of serving platter; arrange pineapple and sausages around rice. Pour sauce over rice. Serves 4.

SAUSAGE STOCKADE

4 Pineapple slices
3 Tbs. fat or salad oil
2 Cups mashed cooked or canned sweet potatoes
¾ Tsp. salt
2 Tsp. sugar
Few grains pepper
5 Tbs. milk
4 Tbs. melted butter or margarine
1 Lb. cooked sausages

Brown pineapple slices in fat or salad oil. Combine potatoes, salt, sugar, pepper, milk and 3 tbs. butter or margarine. Mound on pineapple; brush with remaining butter or margarine. Place on broiler rack with top of food 3 inches below unit or tip of flame; broil until browned. Fry sausage until done; arrange upright around sweet potato mounds. Serves 4.

FRANKFURTERS

Allow 1 to 2 frankfurters per person. Cover frankfurters with boiling water. Cover; let stand 6 to 10 minutes.

BUSINESS MAN SEEKS ELECTION TO CO. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

NEVADA CITY: An expanding and unlimited future for Nevada County was predicted today by Harley M. Leete, Jr., local newspaperman who announced his candidacy for the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday.

Leete, born in St. Helena, California, in 1918, graduated from Nevada City high school in 1935. He graduated from the University of California in 1940, having taken a leave of absence in 1938, during which he worked as a ditch-digger for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

He worked in the printing and advertising business in the Bay Area for two years, before volunteering for naval service. With the U. S. Navy, he was commander of the amphibious forces rocket ship LCTR 482. He saw combat in the Normandy and southern France invasions when his ship attacked the shore with rocket barrages just before the first assault waves landed.

Discharged in May, 1946, Leete returned to Nevada county where he was employed by his father, H. M. Leete, Sr., as manager of the Nevada City Nugget.

He bought the Nugget on April 1, 1947, and since then has greatly expanded the business.

"As a business man," Leete said today, "I am anxious to aid in seeing that Nevada county takes full advantage of the great economic opportunity now opening before. I am studying county needs and will greatly appreciate the suggestions of all citizens in formulating my campaign platform, which will be announced within two weeks."

Interment in Elm Ridge for William Rowett

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services took place in the Hooper and Weaver Mortuary at 2 p. m. Friday, February 27th, for William Rowett. Rev. James Phillips will conduct the service. Interment will be in Elm Ridge cemetery.

Rowett was a veteran of World War I, having served in the Canadian Army. The family home was at 209 North School street. Some years ago his leg was crushed in a mine accident and was amputated. He was a member of the Order of Moose and of the Mine Workers Protective League.

Two daughters, Mrs. W. L. Eddy, Grass Valley, and Mrs. L. J. Triplett, Sacramento, survive.

In recent years Rowett was employed in the Nevada county hospital as fireman and maintenance man.

CATHOLIC CENSUS

GRASS VALLEY: Catholic women of St. Patrick's Parish are taking a complete census to ascertain the number of Catholic parishioners.

The city has been divided into districts and a captain assigned to each block. The canvass will extend to the limits of the parish outside the city. This work is being done preparatory to the erection of a new St. Patrick's church building.

His Majesty's Court: The Nursery

A man's home may be his castle, but the indisputable lord of the manor will be the inhabitant of the room shown above. Because of his importance, the junior member of the family deserves a setting befitting his superior station.

Teddy bears, puppies, and kittens romp across the wall paper of this nursery and give the young man of the house an opportunity to get acquainted with these animal favorites. However, the wall paper background is in soft pastels to insure a restful atmosphere and will not keep his nibs awake during his afternoon nap.

The same muted shades are carried out for the furniture and accessories. This is a practical room, too — there is ample space for a good-sized chest, a high chair — well-padded for comfort, and a pint-sized costumer to hold small coats and bonnets.

1948 Chevrolet is Massive

The over-all simplicity and massiveness of the new, 1948 Chevrolet is well shown in this three-quarter view of the Fleetmaster Sport Sedan. Fenders, hood, body and door panels all blend; and the crease moulding, below the windows, is wider than that used in previous models. Note the new T-shaped chrome center bar on the radiator grille.

Historical Review

Editor's Note: Ada Perry Landsburg was born in the little town of Sweetland, January 30, 1859. She was the daughter of John and Lydia Perry, and spent many years there as well as in Relief Hill, North Bloomfield and Nevada City.

She and her husband moved to Kuna, Idaho, to be near her daughter, Linda. Some years after her husband passed away, she had the misfortune to fall and has been bed ridden for more than ten years.

The Story of Sweetland

By ADA PERRY LANDSBURG

For Whom Was Sweetland Named

The town was named after a prospector named Sweetland, although some have ascribed the naming to one of the other brothers, for there were three at a later date, James Otis and Henry, but to Charles belongs the credit for the naming of the town.

Charles had lived down near the river, with a woman, who under promise of marriage, had borne him two children, a girl who was five years older than the writer, and a boy who was about the same age, but died and was among the first four to be buried in the southern part of town.

The mother went by the name of Mrs. Barnum, whether that was her maiden name, or if she had been married, we do not know. We do not know what became of the father of the children. We never heard of his death, or whether he decamped leaving the maintenance of his children to the mother, who supported the two by taking in washing.

Emma Barnum went to school with the writer; was a very nice girl, and at last when school days were over, was granted a certificate by the board of education of Nevada City. However, she never taught, as her mother would not leave home and go with her, nor would she let Emma go alone, as she had been very strict in her training of Emma from her early childhood. Both joined the Catholic church and were strict adherents to the faith. Both mother and daughter passed away many years ago.

Location of the Town of Sweetland

To describe the location of the town is rather difficult. South of the town is a high hill extending from East to West, and ending in what is known as "Buckeye Hill." At the base of the hill is a stream named Sweetland Creek which takes a westerly course and at last empties its contents into the Yuba river. The high hill west of town extends in a northerly direction and is named Manzanita Hill. At the north of town another high hill extending from west to east, and northeast. East of town low rolling hills and beyond them more level country.

So Sweetland was located, as it were in a pocket among the hills. A small creek at the base of Manzanita Hill flows in a southerly direction into Sweetland Creek at a place southwest of town. This creek was unnamed and was supplied with water from tunnels previously made when prospecting on Manzanita Hills, and also a small reservoir north of the town, presumably built in early days to supply water for running the saw mill.

The main and only street of the town took a northerly course then a northerly direction continuing to where it became one with the road to North San Juan.

TOBIASSEN 1ST TO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACY

NEVADA CITY: First to announce publicly his candidacy for the board of supervisors, Nevada township district, was Carl J. Tobiassen, popular and well-known rancher best-known to the voting public as sheriff for 12 years.

During his term as sheriff, Tobiassen, a native of Nevada county, was elected president of the State Peace Officers' Association.

For many years Tobiassen was superintendent of the Nevada county farm, thereby gaining business experience which he feels would be valuable were he elected to the Board of Supervisors.

Tobiassen advocates early construction of a veterans' memorial building in Nevada City, cleaning up of Pine Grove cemetery.

The candidate, a devoted family man, has spent his entire life in Nevada county.

Wage-Hour Fixing

Thurman Sensing, who directs research for the Southern States Industrial Council, Nashville, Tenn., is a man who speaks with wisdom. Sometime ago Mr. Sensing released comments on our wage and hour law, in which he predicted there would be continued agitation to fix minimum wages at high figures. I think it is true, as Mr. Sensing suggests, that few people understand the implications of wage and hour fixing by the government.

Says Mr. Sensing: "The whole system of democracy is directly opposed to any sort of planned economy. . . . Deny it though we may, the fixing of wages by legislative action can be regarded as nothing else than part and parcel of planned economy. If the government is allowed to assume the power to fix minimum wages and maximum hours, there is nothing to keep the government from reversing this process and fixing maximum wages and minimum hours." With that, democracy flies completely out the window, Mr. Sensing declares.

Real Guarantee

Everybody, he says, should have a living wage — or more — if he earns it. "But no one who believes in democracy will argue that a person should have a certain wage whether he earns it or not. Productivity comes first, not wages. The only real guarantee behind a wage in a democracy is the productivity of the person who receives the wage."

These words are so logical and the reasoning so plain that I would like to continue with Mr. Sensing's comments. Suppose an employer couldn't pay the minimum wages set up, and had to close down. There are two choices for the government; "either the business must be taken over . . . and workers paid without any reference to the earnings of the business; or the workers go on relief and are issued a dole at the expense of the general public."

False Promises

The first would be state socialism, which the people of America would never endorse willingly or knowingly. "Socialism never has and never will bring the people a strong government and a high standard of living." Mr. Sensing cites state socialism in England: "Promising them greater production, it has brought decreased production; promising them a higher standard of living, it has brought them a lower standard of living; promising them happiness, it has brought them misery."

Whence Prosperity?

The other alternative, says Mr. Sensing, would bring a great body of unemployed. "They are unemployed simply because the laws of the land have made it unprofitable for them to be employed. . . . They are living off the enterprise and productivity of the rest of the people. Their incentive is dulled, their energy is stifled, their initiative is warped. They are drones in a free society." When the drones are too numerous to be supported by the workers, Mr. Sensing continues, the government takes over and the society is no longer free.

"If minimum wages fixed by the law are to make us prosperous, we might as well set the figure at one dollar per hour or two dollars per hour or five dollars per hour. . . . In a democracy the requirement must always be that the individual shall earn his wage, whether it be ten cents per hour or ten dollars per hour; moreover, that it shall be fixed by free enterprise in a competitive economy. Our whole history has shown this to be the road to prosperity."

The first grain sown extensively by newcomers to California in the early days was barley.

NO NEW CAR?

If you're unable to get a new car why worry about it when you can still get safe dependable transportation from your present one.

Then too, until you are able to get a new car consider this fact:

A BETTER PERFORMING AND BETTER APPEARING CAR MEANS GREATER "TRADE IN" VALUE ON A NEW ONE.

....Don't deprive yourself of "new car performance" even though yours isn't the latest model. Drive in regularly for periodic inspections and service.

It was great sport for a while, but towards morning some of the men got too much gin aboard and a quarrel started about the right to dance with one of the Missouri girls. Pistols were drawn, the lights put out, at least a hundred shots fired; but, funny enough, only one man was hurt—Sam Creeley, who was hit in the leg. I went out through a window and did not wait to see the finish. It was too exciting for me.

Had a long letter from dad. He has bought the Slocum farm in my name, but now it's mine I would not go back and work on it as I did on the old place under any circumstances. I couldn't content myself. Pard laughs at me and says how about that little song I used to sing:

"A little farm, a little wife,
A dozen babies, a happy life."

A foot of snow fell last week, but it soon melted off. Claim still paying well.

FEBRUARY 2, 1851 — The town went clean crazy this afternoon. I would not have believed that white men could have made such fools of themselves if I had not been there. When I was over in Nevada yesterday I saw on the front of Caldwell's store a big poster which said there was going to be a grand fnght between a ferocious grizzly bear and the champion fighting jackass of the state, the scrap to take place Sunday afternoon in a valley just beyond the ridge on the trail to Centerville (Grass Valley). The bill claimed that the jack had whipped two bulls and killed a mountain lion in previous fights at Sonora, and was expected to be a fair match for the grizzly. Most everybody thought it was a sell, but we found out that a ring had been built and preparations made for the fight. I was curious to see it and rode down to the valley in the afternoon along with about all the rest of the population.

Sure enough, there was a stockade about forty feet in diameter, made of split pine stakes driven in the ground and bound together around the top with strips of rawhide. It looked pretty weak to hold a big grizzly, but one of the showmen said the jack would keep the bear too busy for him to think of breaking away, so we concluded to chance it. A large cage held the beast, a trap door opening into the ring, and we could hear the bear growling, although the chinks were stopped up so that nobody could see the prisoner. The fighting jackass was hitched to one of the stakes and for looks he didn't show to whip a sick pup, let alone a fierce grizzly; but the boss was willing to take odds in his favor, although no one wanted any bets on the game. A rope about two hundred feet from the ring stretched around the stockade. It cost a dollar to get inside, and as at least two thousand rustled for logs and stumps to stand on and paid the money it was a pretty profitable speculation. After waiting an hour or more, the crowd grew impatient and yelled for the show to begin, but the boss would not start it until a lot of outsiders, who had climbed trees and were trying to see the fight free, had put up the same price as the rest of us, and, as we all thought that was fair, they had to pungle.

FEBRUARY 9, 1851—I have had a shock this week that has made me feel bad. Wednesday the expressman brought me a letter and a package from Sacramento, addressed to me. The letter was signed Brant Phillips and said that Henry North had been stabbed

LAUNDERING HAND-PAINTED CLOTHES

Hand-painted clothes should be washed as gently and quickly as possible in 95 to 100 degree water, says the General Electric Consumers Institute. Use the mildest of soaps, dissolved beforehand. Rinse twice in water of the same temperature, and iron before dry on the wrong side.

IN YOUR BREAKFAST NOOK

Consider using leatherette or plastic material seat covers, says the General Electric Home Bureau. They're easy to clean, and especially practical if there are children in the house.

UTILIZING THE BREEZEWAY

If you have a breezeway in your home that is just so much waste space, why not enclose the passage and install the laundry in it, suggests the General Electric Home Bureau. Washer, dryer and ironer can be lined up side by side with plenty of room to move around in a space that probably is too narrow for other purposes.

IRONING EMBROIDERIES AND LACES

If you're ironing embroidered or lace-trimmed pieces by hand, use an extra muslin or linen pad on your ironing board to help bring out the pattern, says the General Electric Consumers Institute. No additional padding is needed if you use a flatplate ironer.

PLANNING YOUR KITCHEN?

Plan the placement of your range away from the sink ,advises the General Electric Home Bureau. If the two appliances are side by side, water is likely to splash on the range, and the work surface by the sink is cut down.

PLANNING A SNACK BAR?

Be sure the snack bar in your new kitchen is recessed enough to permit knee space, says the General Electric Home Bureau. This is especially important where chairs are used instead of stools.

and killed in a gambling house last Tuesday night in a row with a Mexican. He lived only a few hours after being stabbed, and had asked that I should be written to as I knew his folks. The Mexican has escaped and the buried North outside the town. There were no letters or papers and he had no money or property except the ivory-handled pistol which Phillips sent along in a package with the letter. It makes me feel grieved and conscience smitten, as it seems as if I ought to have persuaded him to come here. Pard says I am not to blame, that he was just one of the weak kind that was bound to go wrong and I could not have influenced him any different if I had the chance. After talking it over we agreed it was best not to write the truth, as it would do no good and make his folks feel worse, so I wrote father that a bank caved in North at Mormon Bar, where he was mining, and to tell his epople that the accident caused his death. It would be an awful disgrace in their eyes if the real facts should come out; but I don't see how they can, as nobody knows anything about North except myself.

The claim is still paying well; and to think that Henry might have been alive and sharing in it if he hadn't been so foolish. I want to write to Hetty, but don't feel capable of telling her a string of lies.

FEBRUARY 16, 1851—Strong and his two partners made a big strike last week. They are working in the creek bank a quarter of a mile below us and it leaked out that they took out over three thousand dollars in six days. Nobody begrudges them their luck for they are good fellows. The news has brought a lot of miners to the creek, prospecting along the banks, but no more discoveries have been made.

I was over on Selby Flat yesterday afternoon and found that while the bed of Brush Creek is about worked out, the lead seems to run into the hill. Several companies are following it, sinking shafts and running drifts, and all getting good returns. Kellogg has taken out over twenty thousand dollars and several others are doing as well. They have got the same kind of diggings on the other side of Sugar Loaf and there is no telling how much gold there is in this country if the channels run into the hills. Pard says we had better follow our streak up past the ditch, as it may develop the same as the Brush Creek leads.

I got a letter from home and dad says he thinks I ought to be satisfied with what I have made and come home to comfort mother and him. It does not seem as if this was the right sort of life for a man—no woman, no church, nothing of what there was in Norfolk, but then there is a lot in this country that Norfolk hasn't got. One isn't so cramped and it seems as if there was more room to turn around in .I used to think Squire Battell was the richest man in the world, and he ain't worth more than thirty thousand dollars. If I can go back with that much I would not mind; but I never could settle down again to farm work.

FEBRUARY 23, 1851—It's been no such winter as '49 and '50. About a quarter as much rain and only

Gossip
By THE SHOPPER

BROAD STREET is a scene of fiendish political activity these days. Nearly every man over 21 is running for either the Board of Supervisors or the City Council. So many are the eager aspirants that it is not unusual to see candidates shaking hands with candidates! Those who have already taken out candidacy papers for supervisor, Nevada Township, are, in order of filing: Thomas W. Reynolds, Harley M. Leete, Jr., Herbert S. Foreman, Lauren Williams, and Donald Macari. For City Council, on which there are three vacancies, the following have filed: Charles W. Veale, incumbent, Thomas Taylor, incumbent, Ed R. Hewston, James Hash, Merle Headley, Harry F. Sofge, and Vern Gulartie. See what we mean? If you're not running, you are just not in the swim.

FRANK JAKOB'S Hobbyhouse has a great big railroad running right through it. The engine is a full four inches long, and the whole panoramic countryside is to scale. Eight perfect miniature boxcars follow the midget train around, as two control switches operate the fascinating gadgetry. The plaster and cardboard landscape are dotted by sponge rubber cypress trees made by Kenneth Yeo of Auburn. The rolling stock belongs to Charles Lambrecht of Grass Valley, a student at Placer College. The setup includes a stream, station, 4 per cent grade, tunnel and open cut. The tiny engine can pull 14 midget cars. The whole thing only takes up a space of 2½ x 4 feet.

SHOPPER'S FACE is plenty red! The Union scooped us on our own news release: the announcement of candidacy for supervisor from Nevada Township of Harley M. Leete, Jr. The story in yesterday's Union appears, word for word, on the front page of today's Shopper. As the Shopper rushed back to the composing room to have a revised version of the story set in type, he discovered the first four pages, containing the story, were already printed for the complete issue. In any case, the candidate was delighted to have the publicity, even though scooped by his own news release.

PAINTERS ARE already beginning on Brooks Hartman's grand redecoration of the J. C. Penney Co. store. A large scale job is planned in rendering the merchandise center one of the smartest and most fashionable in Northern California. Mill Street is going to be a little Fifth Avenue if this redecorating rage goes much farther. Even inveterate buyers-out-of-town won't be able to withstand local merchandising temptations much longer.

INSIDE DOPE is that George Hansen, influential president of the Sierra Nevada Chamber of Commerce, doesn't view the proposed Donner Caravan, supposed to go from Reno to Sacramento, as practical. Real covered wagons, in the plan, would go from Reno to Donner Lake, celebrate a Centennial pageant, and trek on down to Sacramento in time for opening day of the Fair! It sounds great, but Whoa! How about that rapid auto traffic being blocked by a big caravan of 5-mile-an-hour wagons? Shucks, traffic'd be blocked clear back to St. Louis, Missouri!

ENSEMBLES TAKE LEAD IN SPRING POPULARITY

Dresses-PLUS are leading exciting double lives this spring! The "plus" may be a redingote, jacket, bolero, or cape which, in combination with a dress, creates a complete, coordinated costume. The "plus" can make a street-dress out of a sundress or simple casual. A costume that spends a day at the office can shed its "plus" and emerge as a decollete dinner gown.

The ensemble, absent during the war years, has made a steady gain in popularity ever since restrictions were abolished and is now more than ever in demand as a double-duty costume for the budget-minded woman.

Favorites among spring ensembles are print dresses combined with a jacket in either matching print or solid color. Plain jackets in butcher linen or wool can also be worn with other costumes and hence make wonderful wardrobe-stretchers.

Boleros, fitted basque jackets, and little dolman jackets or sacquettes are all featured for spring ensembling.

FASHIONS IN FABRICS PLAY NEW PRINTS

Prints come back with the spring and stay with us all summer for they're such a help keeping 'tween-season wardrobes up to standard. This year, the first prints are small, decisive foulard-type patterns that might have been copied from a man's necktie.

These tie prints look wonderful in trim, shirtwaist blouses or whole dresses, especially those that are full-skirted and tightly basqued. Redingotes are often lined with them to match a dress.

Then, as the sun gets warmer and vacation clothes appear, prints in vivid, splashy patterns make their dramatic entry. Combined with white or pastels they make a stunning picture, and, of course, they're striking on their own.

Corduroy is getting its share of spring attention, too, and is becoming an ever-bigger factor among folks who are fashion-wise as a desirable year-'round fabric. It's wonderful for spring suits, casual separates, and slacks in chamois, beige, white, off-white, and all colors of the rainbow.

Cottons, especially pique—and pique combined with prints, are used for everything under the sun from beach and playclothes to evening wear. Countless, beautiful new cottons are arriving early and they're destined to spend all spring and summer as the most cherished fashions in your wardrobe.

USE ACCESSORIES TO INDIVIDUALIZE YOUR COSTUME

Unless you're the one woman in a hundred who has her clothes custom-made, you take a chance that your spring outfit may turn out to be a carbon copy. And so you depend on accessories to give your Easter ensemble the stamp of individuality.

Perhaps, you will do it with scarfs. Try wrapping a long one (or two scarfs sewed together) about your waist as a cummerbund. Tie or twist a scarf through your belt to effect the new hipline drapery.

You might dress up your basic suit or coat with a little shoulder cape, or individualize your favorite dress with a capelet collar of white pique. Incidentally, capes and capelets are a wonderful device for making last season's clothes look new!

You won't overlook costume jewelry—the interesting bracelet, choker, or pin that gives your ensemble the personal touch. Or flowers—fresh or facsimile—tucked in your bracelet or belt, pinned to your hat or hair.

Finally, you'll go in for color—in your shoes, your bag, your gloves. For this is a season when fashion is using color with a lavish hand, in many new, imaginative ways to challenge your ingenuity. Choose an exciting color or combination—and make it your own! Wear it daringly, flaunt it gaily—for the smartest "customized" look of all.

Eleven square leagues was the maximum land grant under the Mexican colonization law of 1824.

The "Gibson Girl" influence appears in the pointed collar and flaring cuffs of white pique on a navy sheer dress of disarming simplicity. Note the new modified skirt fullness with low-placed tucks.

Frankfurts Save Time and Money

For a festive, quick meal platter, serve rosy brown frankfurts wrapped in a ribbon of crisp bacon. Contrast the tempting meat colors with whole kernel corn accented with bits of green pepper. Garnish platter with sprigs of crisp parsley.

To prepare franks, wrap bacon spiral-fashion, fastening each end with toothpick. Place in baking dish split side up. Turn if necessary to cook bacon thoroughly. Cooking time about 10 minutes.

Of interest to many homemakers these days is the fact that Swift & Company is sending its top quality frankfurt to market stylishly dressed in a new, convenient and sanitary one-pound package. Through use of a special cello wrapper, the new package helps seal in the natural juices and flavor of the franks, making them more tasty and more nutritious than ever before. Made and packaged under strict sanitary conditions in Swift kitchens throughout the country, the franks are never exposed until unwrapped in the home.

TOM REYNOLDS, BUILDER, WAS FIRST TO FILE

NEVADA CITY: Thomas William Reynolds, well-known building contractor, was the first candidate to take out filing papers for the post of county supervisor, first district, Wednesday at the office of the county clerk.

Reynolds, a life-long resident of the area, attended Nevada City schools and for many years has followed the building trade.

Married to Mayme Marshall of Nevada City in 1903, Reynolds has four children, one of whom, Marshall Scott Reynolds, has been associated with his father in the construction business for the last 12 years.

An important qualification of Reynolds for the job of supervisor is his work in directing the construction of homes, roads, ditches and landscaping.

"An old-timer for an old-time job," says Reynolds, succinctly summarizing the advantage of his life-time of direct contact with the community.

The presidio in San Francisco contains 1542 acres.

THIS IS THE WAY WE DRY OUR CLOTHES

When drying clothes in an electric dryer, do the pieces which will dry quickest first, says the General Electric Consumers Institute. Reset the timer for heavier pieces.

IRONING CURTAINS

Iron the curtains on your flat-plate ironer next time, advises the General Electric Consumers Institute... It's much kinder to the weakened threads of the wet material than a stretcher, and avoids pulls. Pin two curtains together and iron selvages first.

PLACING THE REFRIGERATOR

Your refrigerator should be located near the outside door of your kitchen, if possible, says the General Electric Home Bureau. The range should be near the dining room door. This makes for smoother traffic flow, easier and faster preparation and serving of meals.

Bigger and Better Prizes

"And how are things now?" we asked the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap.

"Looking up," he admitted "At last I have hit on a solution to all my problems. The better mousetrap idea is old stuff I am making just an ordinary mousetrap, but going in for what really sells things."

"What is that?" we asked.

The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap handed us a long list headed, we observed, by an ivory-bodied beachwagon, two jewel-studded seaplanes a 32-acre estate at Palm Beach, six Arabian horses (in matched colors), a hunting lodge in Canada, a 38-foot yacht and the royal suite on the Queen Mary for the season 1948-49-50.

"That's nothing," he put in. "Keep reading."

We did so and noticed the sum of $25,000 in cash, a contract to do any house over inside and out, fitting it with solid silver door knobs: two television sets and a portable orchid greenhouse.

"My radio program," he explained. "It's to be called 'The Who Is Mister Pipe Down Program,' or 'The Mystery Chuckles.' We pick out somebody who recites a few lines of verse which give a clue to his identity. Then we just pile on more prizes at each broadcast. What do you think of the Netherlands East Indies?"

"You mean for a vacation trip?"

"Oh no. I mean for a radio program prize!"

"You should sell a lot of mousetraps," we admitted.

"Listen, my worries are over. I'm in. These prize programs of real size do it. Path to my door my eye! Know what I'm building?"

"What?"

"Six five-lane highways," he concluded.

Special Delivery:

Mr. Eric Johnston,
Czar of the Movies.

Dear Eric: Well, you are just looking for laughs, I guess, and it is okay, as I like more comedy in the movie world, and you are now eligible for a meter-splitting performance on "Can You Top This?" as a result of that recent announcement of a revolutionary change in picture policy whereby no film based on the life of a criminal will be permitted "unless the character is shown punished for the crimes committed." (You win, Eric, and Harry Hirshfield and Joe Laurie Jr. only pushed the laugh meter to 950.)

I have not had a giggle in years like when I read your statement. Gosh, Eric, you certainly have control of the facial muscles all right, all right. "Unless the character is shown punished for the crimes committed"!!! Why, Mister Hollywood, you have the kiddies splitting their sides, too.

You might just as well have said, "There will be no change whatever in the presentation of crime pictures," on account of the oldest gag in pictures and radio is to have the big plug-ugly get a little chastisement just before the picture fades out into Donald Duck or Mickey Mouse.

Show me any crime picture in the history of the pictures or of radio in which the big gat, machine gun and brass knuckle man, after a blood-curdling life of lawlessness for an hour and 40 minutes, hasn't been sent up the river or been plugged in a phone booth just to fool the mothers' clubs, at the extreme end of the film. Of course, now and then there is a little improvement. I once saw a crime glorification in which the top desperado had nothing worse happen to him than losing the nomination for the presidency. But that was when the presidency seemed attractive.

YOU CAN HAVE IT

Dr. Henry Boorsrok of California Institute of Technology says he has perfected a full meal, costing only three cents. It is a preparation of soybeans, onion powder, yeast, salt, herbs and spices. Offhand, we should say it was overpriced.

Israel Hoskin James, Sr. Borne to Rest

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services took place Monday, March 1st, in the Hooper and Weaver Mortuary for Israel Hoskin James, Sr., who died Friday morning in a local hospital.

James was born in England 71 years ago. He came to this country when 14. He was a sportsman, especially interested in baseball and soccer football. During his younger days he was employed in the mines. He opened a bar here 40 years ago. He was a member of the Eagles.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Myrtle James; a son, Israel H. James, Jr., both of Grass Valley, and several cousins.

Rev. Donald Getty will conduct the funeral service. Interment will be in the Elm Ridge cemetery.

JENNIE LAMSON WINS LIONS' CLUB SPEAKING CONTEST

NEVADA CITY: Miss Jennie Lamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lamson, was the winner Wednesday night of the Lions Club contest in Nevada City as the best speaker on the theme: Do Frontiers of Opportunity Still Exist for American Youth?

Mrs. Evelyn Corr, English teacher in the Nevada City High School, coach and tutor of the contestants, was a guest of the club at dinner in Deer Creek Inn. Miss Lamson is a junior in the high school here.

Charles Hilpert, hardware dealer, was time keeper for the contestants.

Preston Will Is Filed For Probate

NEVADA CITY: The will of Mrs. Maria Jane Preston, who died January 23rd, was filed yesterday for probate by Carl Marsh, a nephew named as executor in the instrument.

The old Marsh residence at the top of Boulder street is left to Luther Marsh, Helen Berger, Carl Marsh and Lucile Crisly, nieces and nephews of the deceased. Alma Marsh, a niece, is willed $500 in cash. Stocks and bonds are left to Luther Marsh, Carl Marsh and Helen Berger.

a foot of snow, which melted nearly as fast as it fell. The nights are frosty, but the middle of the day is warm and the grass is up six inches. Nevada is getting to be quite a town. There are more than one hundred frame buildings beside a lot of tents and log cabins and they are talking about building a theatre. There is another town down the ridge, called Rough and Ready get along without any courts or law. Over in Nevada and it's as lively as Nevada. They hung a nigger there last week for stealing. It's a queer thing how well we the miners have elected an alcalde, but his decisions are not binding, only as they are eccepted by the people. Most of the cases are mining disputes and a miner's jury decides these. Stealing is punished by a whipping and banishment. Outside of a few cutting and shooting scrapes among the gamblers there have been no serious crimes, and it is a fact that we are more orderly and better behaved as a rule than the eastern towns from which we came.

MARCH 2, 1851—In the last month we have taken a little over four thousand dollars out of the claim and it will take us considerable longer to work it out than we expected, as the flat seems to pay pretty well all over. I have got over two thousand dollars on hand beside what I have sent home, so that I have made more than my mark; still I am not going to quit as long as it pays as it does now. Pard tells me that with what he had before we joined fortunes and what he has made since, he has over ten thousand dollars. He has not sold any of his dust, but has it buried, nobody knows where but himself. He thinks it is too much money to lie idle and has made up his mind to invest it in San Francisco lots. He wants me to join him in the speculation and argues that some day it will be a big city. I haven't got much faith in it and neither has anybody else to whom I have talked about it; but as I owe him the most of my good luck I did not feel like refusing, so agreed to put in what I have saved. He says we will make a trip to the Bay in a month or so from now and look over the ground together. One thing is certain. We are all fooled in the quantity of gold there is in this country. We thought a year ago that the rivers, creeks and gulches contained it all, although somewhere there would be found the source of it; an immense deposit of pure gold from which all the dust and nuggets were broken off and washed down the streams. Several parties have hunted for this, but they haven't come across it yet. We do find that the gold streaks run into the banks and under the hills and, in some places, as at Rough and Ready, on the tops of the ridges, and instead of being played out there are more and richer diggings discovered every day. I would not be surprised if it took three or four years before it will all be worked out.

Funeral Saturday For Charlotte Stromberg, Local High School Girl

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services were held Saturday in Myers Mortuary Chapel for Charlotte Stromberg, 15, student in the junior class of the Grass Valley High School, who died Tuesday following a sudden attack of pneumonia.

Rev. William Adam of the Chicago Park Lutheran church conducted the service. Interment was in the Elm Ridge cemetery.

Surviving are the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arol Stromberg, grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Loren T. Robb of Colorado Springs, Colo., and sisters, Mrs. Florale Kloepfer, Pittsburg, Pa., and Miss Arolyn Stromberg, Grass Valley, and a brother, Michael Stromberg.

Mrs. Edna Jane Robinson Borne to Rest

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services took place Thursday afternoon, February 26th, at two o'clock in the Hooper and Weaver Mortuary, for Mrs. Edna Jane Robinson, wife of the late Harold W. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson died Monday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown of Maryland Drive, where she had been making her home.

The deceased was born in Ohio 75 years ago. Most of her life was spent in San Francisco. She and her husband built the Lady Jane Manor six miles south of Grass Valley and for many years made the ranch their home. A nephew, Liston C. Robinson, is the only near relative surviving.

Rev. Frank Buck will conduct the service tomorrow. Interment will follow in the Greenwood cemetery.

HOW TO WASH PILLOWS

You can wash pillows without removing the feathers from the covers, and the General Electric Consumers Institute tells you how: Make a small opening at one end of the pillow for air circulation. Wash in two lukewarm suds for five minutes each time. Rinse twice or three times in lukewarm water, and extract water by spinning or by hand. Dry outdoors if the temperature is above freezing. Shake and turn the pillows often to dry all the feathers.
